A Gloomy Outlook for Butler

[From the Boston Herald]

Beyond question negotiations are going on and have been for the last ten days between certain Democratic politicians and Gen Butler's friends with a view to giving Gen Butler the Democratic nomination for the governorship The Irish Democratic leaders generally favor this course But already there are signs that the men who give character to the Massachusetts Democracy don't like this sort of thing They threaten in case the Butler faction gets control of the convention to withdraw raise the regular Democratic flag make a regular nomination and rely with confidence upon the National Democratic party for recognition as the only true blue Democratic party of Massachusetts This is not gasconading or vaporing The sagacious old Democrats see the danger ahead and don't hesitate to acknowledge its existence

THE BEET ROOT SUGAR QUESTION

ANALYSIS OF THE SUBJECT—EXAMINATION OF THE NECESSARY CONDITIONS OF ITS SUCCESS IN OREGON—THE PREPARATION NEEDFUL FOR IT AND FAILURE PREDICTED WITHOUT SUCH PREPARATION

CORNELIUS Oregon July 30 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The question of establishing beet root sugar manufactories is discussed in the agricultural papers of California and I have seen in THE OREGONIAN some very interesting articles also relating to it As the subject is rather familiar to me I thought that a few observations in regard to this important industry might be welcome and perhaps of some benefit

Of the utility and convenience of establishing beet root sugar factories on this coast there can be no doubt and to how the importance of this industry I beg to cite a few established facts

In the year 1840 beet root sugar establishments were for the first time subjected to taxation by the government in Germany and were found to produce $40 257 During the winter of 1860 1 this tax amounted in the German tariff union to $7 890 408 Meanwhile the import duties on colonial sugar had fallen off to $1 787 During the year 1858 9 there were at work in the German tariff union 257 manufactories utilizing 36 668 537 centals of sugar beet root Stupendous numbers to be sure

In a great many instances the beet root sugar as an export article competes victoriously with the cane sugar as for instance in the Argentine Republic in South America where beet root sugar is imported in large quantities from Germany and France, notwithstanding that Brazil with its cane sugar, is the next door neighbor

If I understand aright it is proposed in California as well as here with us in Oregon that legislation shall come with aid offering a premium for the first beet root sugar manufactory exempting it even perhaps from taxation for a given number of years etc An excellent idea and most likely indispensable But would it not be well to investigate beforehand whether sugar beet root (Beta vulgaris altissima) will grow here in Oregon or California?

I know perfectly well that by this question I shall call down upon me the wrath of the Oregon and California farming community, and hear them say "Sugar beet root not grow in California or Oregon? Ridiculous! Here where we can grow anything and everything Oregon the land of promise! where crops never fail," etc

Of California I know but little and I do not propose by any means, to disparage our beautiful Oregon I do not doubt that sugar beet root will grow in California or here with us, but whether it will grow so as to justify —i e to make beet root sugar manufacturing pay—is as yet an open question and that it will not do so here with us Oregon with our present mode of farming and the actual conditions of our farming lands, I am pretty sure of

Very likely sugar beet root would grow in Oregon and California to an enormous size, but unfortunately this is not the question but rather whether the roots will contain a sufficient percentage of saccharine matter to make extracting of the same pay

Unluckily the sugar beet root is one of the most scrupulous plants in regard to class of soil and mode of cultivation A glance at the map of the beet root sugar manufacturing districts of Europe convinces fully of this fact Germany France and southern Russia stand to-day at the head of beet root sugar countries but instead of seeing it scattered all over these countries we find this lucrative industry clustered in certain localities, and only in such where the peculiar class of soil especially favors the culture of the sugar beet

I know of a good many instances where in other parts of Germany beet root sugar manufactories were established at great cost, with all the latest and best improvements, backed by large capital and which after a few years of trial had to shut down notwithstanding the high state of cultivation of the lands, simply because the class of soil did not suit the sugar beet root That is to say the beets were not sufficiently sacchariferous to pay the expenses of extracting the sugar

I believe most willingly that with the proper culture sugar beet root may be grown and to advantage, in a great many localities in Oregon and California but to save a new industry from a hopeless and certain failure, which eventually baulk the undertaking, perhaps entirely for the future as it happens unfortunately so often with new industries I am of opinion that we should proceed with the greatest caution and ascertain beforehand under what conditions sugar beet root can be grown with a fair prospect of good results

Fortunately agriculture in our day has ceased to be a mere trade It is a science and an art and we can only look to science to solve the problem We can have recourse to no better guide than agricultural chemistry and the analysis of the plant will show us to a nicety what it wants for its prosperity

According to the investigations of Prof Emil Wolff one of the most eminent German agricultural chemists the sugar beet root gives 0 9 or nearly 1 per cent ashes in the roots and 2 6 per cent ashes in the leaves composed of

	Ashes of Roots	Ashes of Leaves
Kali (potash)	40 5	31 1
Natron	16 4	34 1
Calcareous earth	6 2	10 5
Magnesia	4.3	8 8
Chlorin	11 8	12.4
Sulphuric acid	8.5	6 1
Phosphoric acid	6 4	7 8
Silicic acid	7 5	8.0

If we consider as an average crop 200 centals of roots and 53 centals of leaves per acre we find that there are withdrawn by one crop of sugar beet roots from one acre of land in mineral nourishing matters 128 pounds of kali (potash) 40 65 pounds of natron 26 66 pounds of calcareous earth 20 pounds of magnesia 47 66 pounds of chlorin 15 33 pounds of sulphuric acid 24 pounds phosphoric acid and 25 33 pounds of silicic acid

Let us compare this with wheat According to Boussingault the sugar beet root takes in one crop 103 27 pounds of kali and natron 21 5 pounds of calcareous earth 7 7 pounds of magnesia 21 pounds of chlorin 6 47 pounds of sulphuric acid 4 73 pounds of phosphoric acid and 13 pounds of silicic acid more from the soil than wheat would do in one crop, or in other words that 20 wheat crops would have sufficient kali and natron with what one crop of sugar beet root requires!

Are our lands and farms, as a general thing and under present conditions prepared for this? Experience has taught us long ago that sugar beet grown on flat lands which suffer from superabundance of moisture in the subsoil will never contain sufficient sugar to make the extracting of the same pay! They require above all a thoroughly drained soil in a high state of cultivation A mild humose sandy loam a little calcareous—the so called "barley soil"—is what suits them best The soil must be deep and mellow loosened completely to a depth of at least 16 inches (how would that do with our celebrated hard pan?) because the sugar beet goes down to such a depth with its fine rootlets

Bottom lands and beaver dam will produce splendid sugar roots to look at but instead of sugar they will contain water and woody fibres The most paying sugar beet roots that is to say those that will contain the largest percentage of saccharine matter seldom weigh over two or three pounds

During the time of vegetation the sugar beet requires the utmost care hoeing and cleaning four or five times at least because as weeds increase they diminish the percentage of sugar in the roots

I beg to be of the opinion that not before a complete revolution has taken place in our mode of farming introducing above all an extensive and intensive system of subsoil drainage, a proper rotation of crops, culture of forage plants (clover and alfalfa) with a number of manure producing animals in due proportion to the extent of arable land any attempt at the culture of the sugar beet root and the establishing of beet root sugar manufactories must be considered premature and will result most decidedly in a deplorable failure

Drainage and culture of clover will do at the present more for Oregon than the establishing of beet root sugar manufactories It is just as necessary for the future development of our beautiful state as the North Pacific railroad Drainage and clover will work miracles in Oregon It will cancel notes pay mortgages extinguish obligations and bring abundance where there is want

NOTES OF INDIAN MOVEMENTS—INCIDENTS OF THE RAID—GENERAL STATE OF AFFAIRS

CANYON CITY, July 28 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

At such times as these when the least sudden movement of the elements sends a thrill of terror to the hearts of our bravest citizens when the war whoop may be heard in close proximity to our dwellings there is no time to write fancy descriptions of the movements of military commands nor the onward and uninterrupted march of the hostiles who

Come from deep glens and from mountains so rocky
Who come as the winds come when forests are rended,
And come as the waves come when navies are stranded

Killing burning and stealing as they move through our fertile mountain valleys devastating the best fruits of our industries, driving families from their homes and leaving the unharvested crops to be trampled under or otherwise destroyed by bands of stock which range in the immediate vicinity

Only a few weeks since the hostiles suddenly made a dash upon our peaceful valley with war whoop torch and scalping knife the military in their rear and no force to intercept their onward march nor offer protection to our defenseless citizens The consequence was that stock herders were shot down without a moment's warning of the near approach of the savages, houses either burned or robbed of valuable contents, and the best horses of the country driven away

We do not wish to criticise the movements of Gen Howard not being qualified to judge of his military plans or operations We are personally acquainted with him and believe him to be a good brave and intrepid soldier, and one who in times past has rendered valuable service to his country, yet exercising the most liberal views in regard to his military movements in this campaign it seems to us that he ought at least to keep a small detachment of his command in advance of the hostiles to warn settlers and co-operate with citizens in these mountain valleys to check the wholesale destruction of life and property

We had hoped when the Indians left us and traveled northward, that the day of their destruction or surrender was near at hand, that with the great Columbia on the north, Gen Howard's command in the rear and south, with two wings one thrown on the right and the other left of them, would successfully "bag" the whole tribe. In this we were mistaken The Indians were checked but not captured were driven back and without notice by courier or otherwise, the hostiles are again upon upon us and our valley surrounded by these marauding bands of savages, who come down in mid day into the very heart of the valley, drive the best horses into the farmers corrals, saddle and bridle the most favorite ones, and make off in sight of the disconcerted settlers, with the whole band of stolen property to the mountains A circumstance of this kind occurred only a few days since in the upper John Day valley at the farm of one Mr Deardoff In addition to stealing horses the Indians also entered the dwelling house, turning things topsy turvy and carrying off valuables. A party of about forty citizens were collected in a short time and started in pursuit captured a few of the stolen horses, but not an Indian They followed, however until they struck the main trail, making toward the Malheur After mature deliberation the party concluded that in order to avoid another South Fork defeat, they had better retreat in good order and returned to Prairie City, from whence they started

Indian excitement is again running up to fever heat and we shall not be surprised any day at witnessing another panic, such as occurred at the time of the former raid of hostiles in this valley

Last night we had a talk with the notorious or famous "Rattlesnake Jack," who has just returned from an extended scout in the mountains "Jack exhibits four genuine Indian scalps which dangle frown the crown of his old slouched hat. He is lately from the front and while on his way to this valley crossed the main trail of the hostiles, two days since on the middle fork of John Day and came in contact with twenty Indians The hostiles opened fire upon him He made for the tall pine timber, dismounted, and using his own language "let loose and plugged one of them in the back"

Jack is doing good service with his borrowed gun, and when this cruel war is over will doubtless return it to its proper Indian owner The citizens of Canyon City made up a purse of thirty dollars for Jack, and to-day he starts for the mountains, in true Indian style with a promise that he will, when opportunity presents report progress

Two settlers arrived at Canyon City at 10 o clock last night on their way to the North Fork of John Day for the purpose of warning settlers in that locality and removing families to a place of safety The report a band of 150 hostiles making that way also that a man had just been chased into Prairie City by two Indians in that vicinity The white man lost his hat but saved his hair

About thirty citizens of the upper valley have been out in the mountains for several days looking after a missing party of four or five men who started on a scout about a week since Great fears are entertained that this small party has been captured by the hostiles and up to 10 o'clock last night the company had not returned and no tidings of this missing party

The hostiles are now undoubtedly divided up into bands of from 20 to 150 in a body the warriors principally surrounding this valley, while the stock or large band of horses seem to be driven by decrepit warriors, young Indians and squaws in the direction of Willow creek or Owyhee Gen Howard is said to be on the trail of this large band of stock and if reports be true is now camped on Burnt river meadows about 40 miles east of this place and about 20 miles in the rear of the hostile herdsmen

In the face of all our Indian troubles, our valley surrounded by armed warriors who are liable at any moment to stain these pure mountain streams with the blood of our citizens with many of our once peaceful homes deserted ripened crops of hay and grain going to decay women and children panic-stricken and destruction staring us in the face and all kinds of business prostrate it seems strange we say that in the face of all these dangers and privations Camp Harney one of the most important military posts in this department should be ordered abandoned It seems strange that not a soldier during all our troubles and danger has been sent to this valley for the protection of U S citizens It seems strange that not even a courier of the government has been sent to warn us of the near approach of the hostiles and finally it seems doubly strange that the general government should encourage the settlement of its vast domain and then permit ruthless and barbarous savages to murder peaceable citizens without meting out to them that punishment which would be the unfailing penalty of similar crimes committed by white American citizens

THE INDIAN WAR!

Hostiles Attack the Stage—Fight at Monday's Ferry—J Carter and Smith Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 1—A Boise City dispatch says. The stage from Boise to Silver City was attacked by Indians near Monday's Ferry on Snake river The driver was shot through the body but brought the stage to the ferry A guard of five soldiers at the ferry and employes of the station were exchanging fire with the Indians when the stage left A body of volunteers have left here for Snake river and a small detachment of troops from Fort Boise are en route for Monday's Ferry. A band of hostiles, supposed to be Bannacks, are returning to the scene of the original outbreak—Camas Prairie It is expected that Bruneau valley will be again raided

A Silver City dispatch says Two scouts of a party of six have just reached here from the vicinity of the Three Forks Sucker creek The scouts met a party of hostiles, killed the Piute chief Big George and Pretty Johnny They report Jeff Carter and "Seven Up" Smith undoubtedly killed.

Volunteers leave here to night for the vicinity of Bruneau Scouts have been sent in various directions during the past 24 hours. As yet no body of Indians bigger than 40 in number have been discovered at any point

General Howard's Chase—The Indians in Weiser Valley.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 1—General Howard, with the main body of troops, was at Rocky canyon, on the Malheur river, last night, in pursuit of the hostiles The Indians who attacked the stage yesterday were estimated at about 200, and have gone up Snake river toward Bruneau valley

Parties just arrived from Payette valley report two small parties of Indians on the tributaries of the Weiser

Excitement at Silver City.

SILVER CITY, I T, Aug. 1.—Intense excitement still continues here. The hostiles are raiding through the country on Border and Sucker creek, Snake river and Owyhee. They are taking off all the stock they can find and committing other depredations. Heavy firing was heard at Camp Lyon at 2 last night No mails left here to-day or last night An armed guard left here last night for Monday ferry to bring in the body of the driver Hemingway, killed yesterday. He will be buried here to-morrow.

Mr Chrisman is reported to be killed by the savages near Sucker creek. James Geer, reported killed yesterday while in charge of Sommercamp's stock, reached town this morning The friendly Piutes here were brought to town last night, none of them killed

THE WARNER VALLEY CANARD.

OFFICE KLAMATH AGENCY,
LINKVILLE, July 27, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

What kind of statement is that of LeMay's, settler of Warner valley, in yours of the 24th inst, taken from a San Francisco exchange? Every one should know that there is not a word of truth in it. It is exceedingly strange that the effort is kept up to continue the excitement and keep the people from settling down to their usual avocations Who knows of there being an Indian agent at Camp Bidwell? and who does not know that there are enough live Indian agents to find fault with without setting up imaginary ones to gnafle?

It is now thought that it may be that there was one house burned in Warner valley, but it is generally believed that it was done by white men All good people regret very much to see such publications at this late date, and many will not know that it is the old story and will be affected by it. THE OREGONIAN has been honest and fair in its publications, though it would have been a good thing either to have omitted the article or to have given the readers the clue to it. Perhaps it was thought that the very absurdness of the statement would be the best rebuke it could have. Is there no punishment for the crime of deceiving the people in this way? Any one can see that it is a great damage to the country. Some years since, I managed to go to Powder river during a gold excitement. A cattle dealer, who had some interest in my welfare, took me to one side and told me that there was not much gold in the Powder river country, and that men were paid from seven hundred to one thousand dollars to write these stories about the gold of Powder river. I did not believe his story, and for my incredulity had a long wearisome trip, and was several degrees nearer to poverty. Are these wonderful prolific minds paid for filling the country with this fictitious stuff? I have neither talent, time or disposition to write, but I see that something should be done or said to quiet the minds of the people in localities where there is no danger

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 2, 1878.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

We have printed the annual report of the president of the board of regents of the state university. The report shows that the institution is making encouraging progress. It does not appear to be yet self-sustaining, owing in large degree to the bad condition of a considerable portion of the university fund, which has been lent on bad security. A large amount of interest is in arrear and the principal must suffer much loss. Receipts for tuition for the last year show an encouraging increase over those of the year before. But the university still runs behind on its current expenses; though the deficiency for the year 1877-8 is considerably less than for 1876-7. Better attention to the university fund, which is largely due to the interest taken in the subject by the president of the regents and to his former report thereon, is producing a decided improvement of the revenues from that source. We have a report of $4,557 received from interest on the university fund for the school year just closed, as against $2,470 50 from the same source for the previous year. In spite of the looseness with which the fund has been managed heretofore, and the losses which have been the consequence, it should not be difficult to get the fund into shape which, with receipts from tuition, will make the university self-sustaining. Good business management ought to secure a considerable aggregate from the bad loans. But as yet, though foreclosure has been made in some cases, nothing has been done toward making the property available to the fund.

If the resources at command of the state for support of the state university and state agricultural college were combined, as they should be, we should have a single institution of greater efficiency than both, as matters now are. It has not been wise policy to divide resources which would be small enough, if concentrated upon a single object. In his annual message the governor showed that the total of the agricultural college fund available was $18,231 08, which was likely to be increased considerably by sales of land for which applications were then on file. But the resources, even with these additions, can hardly be adequate to the support of the college, even on a limited and economical plan; and surely the legislature will not appropriate any more money for current expenses of the college. Such a proposition the people would very positively reject. These appropriations would have been stopped heretofore had public attention been awakened to their nature and extent.

The claims of locality, which in one way or another are continually leading to unsatisfactory and even absurd results, have been interposed in a matter purely of an educational nature, in which only the public interests should be consulted. These funds belong to the whole people of the state. No locality and no sect has a right to claim any advantage in them. Although some locality was to be chosen, yet not its own claims, but the public interest and public convenience were paramount. We do not know that any one has objected either to Corvallis or Eugene City as a proper place for a seat of higher learning, under the patronage of the state; but we do think, and the impression is very general, that the resources available for these purposes ought to be combined upon a single effort, and that the claim put forth for a school by this place or that should have nothing to do with the subject, even though politicians find in it a convenient opportunity for their peculiar traffic. We could build up a single university which would become a strong power in the field of higher education and be an ornament to the state. Would not this be more rational and far better than to struggle with meagre and divided resources to sustain two, for which there is only a local demand?

"NOT BAD INDIANS."

Where could eastern papers have obtained the idea that "the northwestern Indians who are now classed as 'hostile,' and whom Gen. Howard has been pursuing over the mountains for so many weary weeks, are not especially bad Indians?" We find these words in the Philadelphia Times. Certainly the idea could not have been deduced from the telegraphic reports which have gone to the eastern press; for we find these reports giving in the main a correct detail of what has actually occurred. Perhaps it would be impossible to convince the eastern mind that there could be anything "especially bad" in any lot of Indians. The cruelty, cowardice and savage atrocity of these Indians, who have murdered every person whom they could take off without danger to themselves, who have mutilated the bodies of all their victims in the most shocking manner, and have even on many occasions perpetrated the most horrible cruelties upon dumb animals, have never been outdone. All these things have been made known at the east, but the sentimentalists, with their romantic notions about the Indians, refuse to pay any attention to the authenticated facts. Perhaps nothing would disenchant long-haired philanthropy except a little lesson of actual experience with these wretches, including the sensations felt during a flight to save its hair, under big chances of losing it.

Recently there was notice by telegraph that the Dominion government had ordered a survey of the Canada Pacific Railway with a view to contracting immediately for its construction to the Pacific ocean. It is now wisely suggested that this is a little political play. An election is to be held in British Columbia for members of the Dominion parliament; and there is much soreness in the public mind in consequence of the failure of the government to keep its former pledges on this question. Other promises are now in order, which will no doubt will be broken in turn. But J. H. Todd, a candidate at Victoria for a seat in the Dominion parliament, in an address to the voters, says: "I shall demand from the Canadian government an earnest commencement and faithful prosecution in this province of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Nothing short of this will fulfill the most solemn treaty obligations of Canada to British Columbia. So far, we have had plenty of promises from Canada, which, alas, to her shame and disgrace, have been broken, and, sooner than submit to be humbugged in the future as we have been in the past, I would sever the cord that binds us to confederation."

Agent Roork of Klamath reservation writes a vigorous protest against a misleading statement made by George Le May in regard to Indian depredations in Warner valley, published in THE OREGONIAN of the 24th ult. Mr. Roork [illegible] mistaken in supposing that THE OREGONIAN [illegible] from a San Francisco exchange, and is [illegible] in error in his implied censure of [illegible]r publishing it. It was a tele[illegible]h received from San Francisco; and though its statements, as Mr. Roork says are untrue, THE OREGONIAN could not at that time know the fact, and was not in possession of information to "give the clue to it." It seems that a man calling himself Le May, and representing himself as a settler in Warner valley, told great lies in San Francisco about Indian depredations, and they were telegraphed here. THE OREGONIAN fails to see why it should be blamed in the matter.

Surveys have been made for a branch of the Northern Pacific railroad on the west side of Red river to the Manitoba boundary. There is a remarkably feasible route, passing through a country of unsurpassed fertility. The total cost of building 152 miles, the distance to the boundary line, is estimated at $945,000. Such a line would be an important feeder. According to the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, the Northern Pacific managers indicate that they may place under contract 200 miles of the main line west from Bismarck to the Yellowstone, and utilize their five million acres of land between those points in the building up of the extension, which would cost ten or twelve hundred thousand dollars.

A communication on the subject of beet sugar, which we publish to-day, presents many practical suggestions on a topic which is much under discussion on our Pacific slope. Our soil, undoubtedly fertile, will produce the sugar beet. But the question is not yet settled whether it will produce beets of a quality to render profitable the business of extracting their sugar. The analysis of the subject presented in the communication referred to is an interesting one, and the caution therein recommended may be profitably observed.

While people east were tortured with heat and dying with sunstroke, our mean daily temperature during July was 65 deg., and the highest was 85. The contrast is worth a note of observation.

Cleopatra's Needle.

[From the London Athenæum.]

The preparations for erecting Cleopatra's Needle are well advanced. Nearly the whole of the iron work has been removed and the inscription on the fourth side is in an excellent position for examination and comparison with the various editions which have been given of it. There are several points of interest to be observed with regard to the palæography of the older or central line, and that of the two nearer lines with which it is flanked; the former being far superior in treatment and workmanship to the later additions. This is particularly remarkable in those parts which had been covered by sand, and so protected from injury by accident or design. Some of the hieroglyphics are executed in a different manner; the circle, for instance, of the middle column of the text is slightly raised at the center; in the side lines it takes the form of a deep and cuplike depression. It is expected that the work will be completed in about two months time. The solid base of masonry and granite blocks is being built; above this the needle will be raised upon a staging and swung by an armed collar, which will enable the monolith to be balanced, and thus easily transferred from a horizontal to a vertical position.

Bishop Scott Grammar School.

A Boarding & Day School for Boys.
PORTLAND, OREGON.
Under the Supervision of BISHOP MORRIS.

THIS SCHOOL WILL OPEN IN THE COMMOdious and beautiful new building on TUESDAY, Sept. 3d, under the Headmastership of PROF. JOSEPH W. HILL, an A. M. of Yale College. There will be a full corps of faithful and experienced assistants, among them Mr. Louis Miner, already favorably known to the patrons of the School.

Among the very satisfactory testimonials that Bishop Morris has received concerning Prof Hill, are the following

YALE COLLEGE, April 26, 1878.

This may certify that Mr. Joseph W. Hill has had ample experience in teaching, is mature in years, and is well fitted to take charge of a High School. He is a man of excellent character, and cannot fail to give satisfaction as a teacher.

(Signed) N. PORTER, Pres.

THE SELLECK SCHOOL, NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 16, 1878.

I have long known Mr. Joseph W. Hill. He was my pupil for years and has since taught for me. To his ability and worth I unhesitatingly testify. He is an earnest student and in my judgment possesses rare qualifications for the profession of teaching. I commend him very cordially and thoroughly.

(Signed) REV. C. M. SELLECK, Principal.

CITY.

[illegible] RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.—Says the [illegible] "Last Friday morning the chapel of St. Mary's Academy in this city was filled with a numerous congregation gathered to witness the impressive ceremonies connected with the reception of Postulants and Novices into the community of the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary High Mass was celebrated on the occasion, Very Rev J [illegible], V. G, being celebrant Rev P [illegible], S. J., preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon. The following young ladies were then received into the different grades of the religious community Miss Sophia [illegible] entered the Novitiate as a postulant [illegible] Margaret Burke and Mary Edith Vedder were invested with the religious habit, the first receiving the name of Sister Mary [illegible], and Miss Vedder that of Sister [illegible]. Sister Mary Aloysius—formerly Miss M. Eldredge, of St. Louis—made [illegible] of her religious vows Sister [illegible] and Sister Mary Pulcheria pronounced their perpetual vows, thus renouncing the world and all its pomps in order to devote themselves to the instruction of youth during the remainder of their lives A large number of the reverend clergy from the valley and from the diocese of Nesqualy were present at the beautiful ceremonies. The chapel was elaborately decorated for the occasion."

A CLOSE FALL.—Appearances are sometimes very deceiving. Getting on and off a train when it is in motion is generally attended with more or less uncertainty So think a couple of small urchins who attempted to get on and off the westside train yesterday while it was going down Fourth street One succeeded very well, that is to say he got off but not in the most desirable shape The train was moving with a little greater celerity than he supposed, and hence the unpleasant [illegible] landed on the ground, but did [illegible]. After bounding and rebounding and performing a series of gyrations the [illegible] came down plump on the head of another small boy who was running along [illegible] to get aboard Both lads came [illegible] heap, and when they gathered themselves up from a cloud of dust, what a [illegible] went forth. It was a rough lesson, and we hope it will have a salutary effect [illegible] attempting such feats, small boys [illegible] the peculiarities of the attraction.

[illegible] TELEGRAPH.—For some time [illegible] alarm telegraph has been so out [illegible] almost useless in directing [illegible] the locality, owing to some [illegible] was thought, either in the [illegible] the wires. Yesterday Henry [illegible] the direction of the authori[illegible] thorough investigation of the [illegible] the city. In many places [illegible] branches of the shade trees [illegible] come in contact with the [illegible] the current of electric[illegible] the alarm Mr Wilmer [illegible] all such obstructions It [illegible] alarm will now work cor[illegible] service in guiding the [illegible] locality of the fire if one [illegible]

ANOTHER OREGON BOY.

We have received a copy of The Index published in Meadville Pa, containing a long account of the commencement exercises of the Meadville theological school under charge of the Unitarian church The paper bears date of June 1 The following complimentary mention is made of a Portland boy son of Mr Alfred Goodnough of this city who was one of the graduates of the institution

A E Goodnough of Portland Oregon followed with an admirable essay on The Suspensive Doubt of Descartes After sketching briefly the age in which this thinker lived and the influences tending to his intellectual and moral growth he said that Descartes early saw that he must discard all received authority and accept nothing as true until it was proved to be true Mr Goodnough alluded to the methods of investigation adopted by Descartes and his celebrated formula Descartes was sometimes accused of being a skeptic but the speaker thought he was so only so far as the frame of mind was necessary in his aim to arrive at truth The theology of the world should be examined as carefully as other things But it is necessary to take some things for granted upon authority In religion as well as politics we must allow the right of each man to investigate for himself Wherever inquiry led it was our privilege to follow in its path The methods of logic were as applicable to religion as to the sciences Descartes methods were needed in theological investigations but one should not doubt simply for the sake of doubting Truth was the end in view and should be pursued steadily to the end An appreciative eulogy on the work of Descartes closed one of the finest essays given before a Meadville audience in a long time

NOTES FROM THE PALOUSE COUNTRY.

COLFAX W T July 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have been asked to jot down all the locations that would be likely to fit the wants of seekers for lands where the occupation of farming and stock raising would be profitable and pleasant and in a healthy location My map is dotted all over and parties will have to come and see what particular location will suit their own conditions and ideas It is nearly all desirable Comparing it with Illinois Kansas Tennessee Florida Texas or Oregon in point of health and climate it is better The soil is not superior to Illinois or Iowa but far better than any of the states named in this The yield is more uniform there is better quality of produce and always reliable crops

There is vacant land and desirable capable of giving a homestead or pre emption of 80 or 160 acres of comparatively level land for 300 families, healthy locality and good water with a very good and easy road of 10 or 20 miles to Snake river at the mouth of Alkali Common or Texas Ferry and in the best stock country south and west that can be found east of the Cascades Vast bands of stock from [illegible] and 100 miles north and east in cold weather seek the commons of Snake and Palouse rivers or Alkali or Union flats

This section is known as the head of Willow creek including the rolling hills of Union and Alkali flats Here is the best bunch grass as one can tell by the appearance of the fat animals that stand around the numerous springs and water holes by thousands In five years it will be thickly settled with good society and schools If you are seeking these locations with a large community good society (what we may reasonably expect) stop over from the boat at the Texas Ferry It will be necessary to take your blankets and and provisions and be prepared to walk 15 miles

The drawback (every location has one or more) is that there is no timber near Drift wood can now be had for all wants But in the near future it will have to be rafted from the Clearwater A raft can be bought for $100 of nice cedar logs that will fence a quarter section and make the necessary buildings and firewood for one year so you may say it is nearer and cheaper and better than at Colfax

A warehouse, when erected at the mouth of Alkali Flat will be the shipping point to and from Portland to Forts Colville and Coeur d Alene, Spokane Falls and Bridge, Pen d'Oreille Lake, Montana, Kootenay, Four Lakes Hangman, Pine and Rock creek Lower Palouse and Union Flats, and for a long distance west of the Palouse river It is the only natural bed for a railroad east of the Palouse river A narrow gauge railroad can be run up Alkali canyon or flat for 20 miles then across the head of Willow creek to Union Flat 60 miles making about 100 miles through the great grain belt to the mountains of fine timber in Idaho

It is the only good route running north out of the canyons from Snake river The O S N Co or N P R R Co ought to encourage the building of a warehouse and other accessories for a town. Then the country would fast settle up

The quartermaster of the new post at Coeur d Alene has passed over the road with ten six mule teams via Palouse bridge for the post and declares it is the best road north of Snake river

There are many claims to be taken on Alkali Flat from Tub Springs up to the head Occasionally a good ranche can be found in the settled portion of the country but no land in large bodies Willow creek will be the center of the largest grain fields of level land in the territory G

Sherman and the Third Term.

[New York Corr Philadelphia Ledger]

The stir among the politicians growing out of the change of personnel in the custom house was superseded this morning by a telegram from Long Branch to the Herald announcing as if by authority that Secretary Sherman had come out for Grant ' The exact words of the dispatch are as follows

The secretary said he believed that Grant would receive the nomination for the presidency and if the convention met to-morrow the vote would be given almost by acclamation The telegram, I am informed was shown to the secretary this morning prior to his departure for Washington and he acknowledged its correctness

BEAUTY:

OR, THE

Secret of a Fair Face.

An Item of Interest to Every Lady who Desires to be More Beautiful than she now is.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate, possesses that basis and starting point of real beauty —a pure and clear complexion. What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish. It can be done, it is done daily Prof W E. Hagan placed beauty within the reach of every unblessed daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called

MAGNOLIA BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM is a sure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with magical power. It drives away all evidence of fatigue and excitement. It makes the plainest face beautiful. It gives the complexion a dazzling purity and makes the neck, face, and arms appear graceful, round and plump. It makes a matron of 30 or 40 look not more than 20 years old, and changes the rustic maiden into a cultivated city belle.

The Magnolia Balm removes all tan and conceals every drawback to beauty, and, while it is as harmless as water, it is so life like in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use. Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM, and we know of no other way. It is the cheapest preparation in the world, all things considered, and may be had at any drug store.

Legal tenders in Portland—buying 99¼; selling par.

Silver coin, 1¾@2¼ discount.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Legal tenders, 99⅝@99¾.

Mexicans, 92@93½; trades, 97@97½; halves, 97,90@95½.

We have nothing new in the local money market to report. Silver coin, as will be seen, has slightly advanced, whether temporarily or otherwise is not discernible. The city banks are doing a fair business for the season, though there is no special call for funds at present. The movement of the crops and the beginning of the fall trade however are expected to induce a more active demand for capital and to stiffen, if they do not advance rates.

The principal financial feature in the business reports from San Francisco is the steady but slow hardening of the money market, resulting from a healthy mercantile demand for accommodation. Bankers are cautious and scrutinize collaterals very closely.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The clipper freight market has been rather quiet to-day owing to showery weather. Still this afternoon there has been some business done in shipments of dry goods, clothing, etc. Rates have been advanced one hundred per cent. by late circulars of the Pacific railroads, thus practically cutting off shipments by that route. Otherwise the market via Cape has been quiet, although there has been much inquiry from shippers of such freight as the railroads have doubled upon. Rates of freight remain steady and agents do not propose to take any advantage of shippers, but on the other hand will make a rate that cannot cut and take all freight offered. Steamer freights have been active and offerings for the next departure exceed those for many months, and this is due to the fact that shippers look to the steamers to relieve them from the extortion of the railroads, and they promise if the steamer agent will make a reasonable rate they will send the bulk of their freight by that route. The steamer yesterday had for California a very full cargo.

The circular of the Pacific roads advancing rates on certain classes of goods continues to be the all-absorbing topic among shippers of those articles and also by shippers of other goods, as the latter do not know how soon the screws may be put to them. Merchants interested denounce the matter as an outrage and one that they will not submit to, although some of them admit they will be obliged to pay the increased rate on such goods as they actually require to meet the early fall trade, but they will not forward more than is actually necessary, preferring to wait and see what the Pacific Mail will do to help them when their contract with the Pacific roads expires, which will be September 1st. In the meantime they are sending certain classes to clippers and not sending anything overland. The substance of the contracts offered to merchants are that if they will agree to ship all their goods by rail, the Pacific roads will make a rate of $4 and $5 per hundred pounds, and will protect them against a lower rate if made by the Pacific Mail Company, that is, if the Mail Company will take goods at a dollar per hundred the railroad will make a rate of about two dollars. The Pacific roads, however, reserve the right to abrogate the contract at their pleasure. It will thus be seen that shippers have no guarantee, for if they should ship all their goods by rail, and ignore the clipper lines the railroads would, as soon as they discovered the fact, abrogate the contract and advance the rate, a thing that they have done before, and is really the cause of immense shipments via Cape Horn the past year. Of the numerous shippers seen to-day not one is willing to sign the contract or listen to any arrangement on its behalf. Several of the largest shippers of dry goods have cabled to Europe to have all their goods—such as have not yet been shipped via New York—sent direct to San Francisco, and they say that they mean business in this matter, and hereafter they will not be at the caprice of the agents of the railroad. What the result will be cannot be determined, but the general impression is that the railroads will have to give way. The position of the Pacific Mail Company in this matter is, for the time being, in a queer predicament. Until the expiration of the contract, September 1st, the railroads make the rate for them, which of course, will be in the interest of the latter, and if the mail company ignore the contract and take freight at a lower rate the Pacific roads will claim that they have violated the contract, and will withhold all moneys due as a penalty. The mail company, however, have the matter under serious consideration, but will not arrive at a conclusion before Tuesday next. In the meantime shippers of dry goods have offered them more freight than would fill their vessel twice over.

Domestic Produce.

A very considerable quantity of wheat is coming forward from east of the mountains and a few small lots from up the Willamette, but the market can hardly be considered as fairly opened. It is expected that within ten days the receipts will greatly increase. At present prices are to a great extent nominal, the actual transactions being but few and mostly made on the basis of $1 50@1 55 per cental, the latter being paid only when necessary to fill vessels dispatch. The weather is excellent for harvesting and farmers everywhere are reported to be pushing their work. Much of the earliest sown wheat is already saved. Flour has been steady during the past week with a good demand both from the local trade and for shipment to San Francisco, where Oregon brands of extra are reported scarcer than for a long time. There may be some slight temporary advance during the coming week, but we are too near in the face of an abundant harvest for any material rise in the market. Oats are still coming forward but receipts are not at all excessive and are readily placed at current quotations. The market which has ruled at 42½@45 for several days shows a little stronger tone to-day, San Francisco being reported a little short on supplies. The demand in the local market is brisk for the season. Hay is in abundant supply and prices are unchanged, good baled timothy selling at $10 and loose at $8@8 50 per ton. Potatoes are still held at 70@75 cts per bushel, but the market is weak and a decline is not at all unlikely in the near future. The new crop, of which some lots are coming forward, is generally reported to be average as to yield and quality. Onions are in fair supply and the demand good at quotations. Provisions are generally coming to hand in excess of the call and prices are low, with a weak market, upon which it is difficult to place large lots at maximum quotations. Butter is abundant and finds a dull market in most cases, only choice lots being ready sale and there being an overstock of bad quality. Eggs are held at 25c per dozen, though shippers are not in the market at more than 20@22½c.

The wool market is still the subject of a good deal of attention, and as the number of buyers and sellers is large, very conflicting opinions are expressed as to the condition and course of the trade. At any rate, the market is somewhat improved lately, and the signs of a revival in the business at the east have had some effect in imparting more animation to the trade on the Pacific coast. The demand here runs principally on fine wools, low grades being refused in some cases while choice lots are sought after. Shippers say they cannot afford to pay freight on dirt, burrs, etc., as they cannot sell them for wool in the eastern market where everything put on the market is most closely scrutinized. As in every other product it pays the seller to see that his wool is offered in such shape and condition as will be most tempting to the buyer. The present condition of the market is somewhat more encouraging to buyers than it was a short time ago, but prices remain almost as at our last weekly review.

San Francisco Markets.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

DR. BRENAN has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

DR. BRENAN will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them: they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
